Never too Rushed to help

Have you ever wanted to help others but you didn't because you thought you were too busy or in such a hurry that you didn't have time to do so? Here is a story of a girl, Nancy, who believes that she was never too rushed to help others.

Nancy is very caring and kind. She always helps people when they are in need.

One morning at seven fifty, Nancy was rushing to work. She was almost late for work. When she arrived at the crossing near her office, she saw a blind man crossing the road. He was hesitating and looked like he needed help. Actually, it was his first time to cross the road by himself. He was used to having someone accompany him.

Nancy discovered his difficulty, she went over and asked him, 'Do you mind if I help you?' The man said, 'No, at all.' Nancy helped him cross the road patiently. The man was grateful and said 'thank you' to her many times. Nancy smiled and said, 'Nevermind!' Then she rushed to work.

In the days to come, Nancy came across the man several times. Every time she saw him, she would stop and talk to him. As time went by, they became friends.

As Nancy says, 'helping others is just like sunshine, you're never too busy or too rushed to help others.'

This is the story of Nancy, an ordinary girl like you and me.
