A Quarrel with a Friend

Friday                      16th October, 2021                      Sunny

What a terrible day! I quarrelled with Lily today. In the morning, I had my first lesson in the classroom. I was happy because I had a new storybook.

After a while, Lily saw my storybook. She said, 'May I read your book? It looks interesting.' I didn't want to share my storybook with her. So I said, 'No, I want to read it myself.' Lily continued, 'I am your best friend. Why don't you share this book with me?' I said, 'It's my book. If I don't want to share it with you, you cannot force me to.' Lily said, 'Please! I just want to borrow it for one day! Before she finished what she wanted to say, she tried to grab my book and I didn't let her take it. Soon, the book was torn apart. I shouted loudly, 'You are so mean! I don't want to be your friend anymore!'

I felt very angry, because my book was torn apart.

This morning, I still felt unhappy after the quarrel. I told my father that I had a quarrel with my friend, Lily yesterday. My father said, 'Friends shouldn't quarrel with each other. You should say sorry to her.' I said, 'Okay, I understand.'

Then, I went to Lily's home. When I saw Lily, I said to her, 'Sorry, Lily. I should share my book with you, but I didn't do so.' Lily said, 'I am so sorry, too. I shouldn't quarrel with you. That book is yours. I shouldn't have snatched it from you.' We become friends again since then.

I felt happy because Lily and I are friends again. I think friends should share with each other and not quarrel with one another.
