Helping People makes me Happy

Emma is a nice girl. She is helpful and polite. She likes helping others. She likes helping students with their homework. Everyone likes Emma very much. Emma often says, 'Helping people is my hobby. This gives me joy and a sense of satisfaction.'

One day Emma was walking on the road. An old woman was walking in front of her, carrying two heavy shopping bags on her poor weak shoulders. She was out of breath and stopped. Emma walked close by and asked, 'Granny, could I carry the bags for you? You looked tired.' The old woman was surprised but said, 'Oh, that's very kind of you. Thank you!' 'Of course, it's no problem at all!' Emma took the shopping bags as she said.

At the end, Emma helped the old woman carrying the bags to her home. The old woman was very grateful and thanked her many times.

Emma left with a smile and said, 'You're very welcome!'

Take care!

This incident was reported and released in the newspaper. Emma said during an interview, 'Helping people makes me happy'.

This might be a minor thing but if everybody lends a hand when others are in need, our community would be very kind and caring, don't you think so?
